Saxophone and Clarinet lessons

Individual Tuition at Chew Valley School

The Music Department is pleased to be able to offer individual Saxophone and Clarinet tuition. Learning to play a musical instrument can be for a student's own pleasure, in addition to those wanting to go down the traditional route often leading to exams. It can also offer opportunities to play socially and have added benefits for wellbeing, confidence building and self-esteem.

What happens in lessons?

Saxophone/Clarinet lessons will be fun and rewarding. Alongside learning their instrument, students will have the opportunity to learn how to read music and develop listening skills. They will work towards being able to play their favourite pieces of music and follow a recognised exam syllabus. As students develop their skills and confidence, there will also be opportunities to join music ensembles and explore performance if they wish. Chew Valley School has a limited number of instruments that can be loaned out to pupils. Instrumental hire may also be available through WEMA – West England Music and Arts.

Who will teach it?

Julie Thomas has over 30 years' experience of teaching – privately and in schools – and at all levels, beginners to advanced. She has vast experience of playing and performing.

What does it cost?

30 minutes individual lesson - £20/lesson.

20 minutes individual lesson - £14/lesson.

Lessons are normally weekly and during term times. An invoice will be emailed to parents/carers either monthly or at the start of term. A parental contract of terms and conditions will be emailed before lessons begin.

For students who are on the Pupil Premium register, the school currently covers the cost of 20 mins of tuition.
