LAMDA

Individual and Paired Acting Tuition at Chew Valley School

What is it?

The Performing Arts faculty offers acting tuition in much the same way you might learn an instrument at school, including being entered for graded examinations and qualifications. You may also hear this tuition referred to as LAMDA (London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art). LAMDA is the establishment that facilitates the examinations and has a reputation for excellence in drama across the globe.

What happens in lessons?

Students will prepare dramatic scenes. By portraying other characters, learners will explore a range of different personalities and emotions and develop a clear speaking voice and good body language. Over time, students will become more emotionally aware, empathetic and self-confident.

Who will teach it?

Rhian Gordon has over 25 years' experience of teaching drama including at Chew Valley School. She has a BA (Hons) degree, a PGCE and is a member of the Association of LAMDA teachers.

LAMDA

What does it cost?

30 minutes paired or 15 minutes individual £9.50/lesson.

30 minutes individual lesson - £19.00/lesson (recommended for grade 4 onwards).

The paired or 15 mins individual option will be decided by the teacher in consultation with the student and will depend on student numbers, grade and progress.

Lessons are normally weekly and during term times. An invoice will be emailed to parents/carers at the start of term.

The school currently covers the cost of this tuition for students who are eligible for the Pupil Premium.
